

1. twice a month + marina to get to BART BART transit late at night app times not accurate (next bus) 2. get to grocery store get anywhere multiple times a day pretty good, not always on time must use even if late convenient AC transit next bus website maps to learn confused at first multiple of the same bus → inefficient more notifications: detour, 3. walk to BART vs. bus - which is faster?
"busses don't run as fast"
"what bus are we supposed to be on?"
"love the busses" better than SF - not as crowded "busses are never on time" 4. 20 years in Japan - much much better train every eight minutes extremely inefficient

4. busses are deficient - Van Who!
Americans don't know what they're missing very parochial - narrow minded 1940s doing best they can - social issues assumption that constituency is young, old, poor drivers get the brunt of it bus stop had moved - no notification bad management mechanisms are out for 3 months no consulting with other systems changing routes often often off schedule vscs print schedule
5. next bus app - helpful used to tell what/when busses are here 6. go around town, to SF - prefer bus schedules are inaccurate app - routes more accurate - friend where bus stations everyday to get to work + weekend app helps with time Inconsistent times

7. commute to BART to city not crowded in mornings → 8:30 clean, always a seat unpredictability with times drivers take breaks, inconsistent fix timing don't stop → can't see person next bus app: not synced 3 minutes 8. "not too bad"
better than LA schedule close to actual pretty fast, frequent, reliable bus driver missed a stop, went on freeway had to get off on freeway, walk some busses have wired seating google maps to keep track of schedule learned the system by google maps + exp. casings covered with graffiti, obscured link to website with real times haven't used often stops are packed at busy areas
